Lady Death

Once she was a girl named Hope, who lived with her family in the medieval era. But to save her mother's soul, which was captured by Sagos, the realm shattering warlock, she renounced her humanity.

She was sentenced to the brutal Blacklands, a land within the infinite realms of the unfathomable Labyrinth.

Through horrifying trials, Hope's innocence was lost. She was forged into the cold, cruel and alluring warrior Lady Death.

Today, she has joined forces with the mysterious and deadly Wargoth, and master spell-caster, Satasha. Together, they dare the impossible: destroy Sagos, liberate Lady Death's mother's soul and save the Blacklands from extinction.

Unholy

Since The Fallen were banished from Heaven, a war has been waged by the two factions of Heaven and Hell. These factions are the Unholy, representing Hell and The Fallen, representing God's will. The Unholy, demons who pose as men, use Hell-fire and brute strength as their weapons. The Fallen use light, holy water and religious artifacts to destroy their enemies.

Justine was a fun-loving, Swedish orphan living in Medieval Italy. She was a rebel teen who once was a non-believer. After she was murdered by knights in the Pope's service, she was "drafted" by God to be His assassin.

As a fallen angel, she is caught up in the shadow war waged at night on the city streets by combatants who often appear to be ordinary men and women, but who are in reality members of the factions of Heaven and Hell. Her allies? A hard-as-nails Madame named Sophia and The Order--a clandestine organization that operates outside the known bounds of the church.

War Angel

She was once known as Serenity, one of the seraphim--the highest known order of angels. She was an angel of love, light and fire. But for reasons still unknown, she turned away from the path of light and embraced her own personal darkness. She became the renegade called War Angel: a heartless, cold-hearted killer who shows little remorse or regard for life.

War Angel is a woman of contradictions. She does not fight for the dark side. She relishes destroying evil, but she fights the side of light with equal fury. She has few ties, few known relationships and no one place to call home. She lives for mayhem and has rarely tasted defeat. She is legend across the globe and she is quite possibly insane.

Pandora

Thousands of years ago, as legend has it, the Greek god Zeus created the perfect woman. She was a woman of such beauty, intelligence and power, that even the gods admired her. Still, she was destined to be a pawn of some of those same gods who admired her.

The gods imparted her with gifts of great power and importance. Zeus bestowed upon her a magnificent, mysterious box and ordered her never to open it. But she did.

Evil in all its terrible forms escaped the box, spreading its foul influence across the globe. And ever since, Pandora has hunted down the dark forces to return them to the box.
